Following the rains of Friday and Saturday night, we got a good soaking rain Monday night that did all the growings a vast amount of good. Although some corn was blown down by the wind which followed the rain, still not much damage was done, and things are now in good shape for a good crop of corn from what was planted. There is not a very large acreage of corn in the county this year because the dry weather of earlier in the season stopped many of the farmers from planting.

F. J. Long and E. C. Pope were in from the Pedrow neighborhood Tuesday, and report that they had a good rain, and that things are coming out nicely there. Mr. Long said that he been discing some land Monday, and expected to plant it in peas and corn Tuesday, but the rain of Monday night made the ground too wet to work. He says his pasture, which looked as though it would burn if the match had been applied a week ago, is now coming out again in good shape.

The Market Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, June 26, 1911. The main feature in the cattle market last week was the moderate proportions of the run, and the small number of dry weather cattle contained. Another point was the advance in the prices of stockers and feeders, which sold 25 to 50 cents above the low point of the previous week. It seems that there are enough wet spots in the country to absorb readily all the surplus cattle that comes in from the dry sections. The usual prices are widening went on on last week, good to choice cattle adding 10 to 20 to their value, and medium to poor selling steady to a quarter lower. Calves closed 25 to 50 lower. There was a good run from quarantine territory 450 car loads, nearly 40 per cent of the total cattle supply, but the supply of that class of cattle looks small for the week when compared with the receipts same week last year, 819 car loads. Rains have fallen at various points within the last week, and it is raining in Kansas City today, and while the precipitation is insufficient at most points, it is supplying cattle owners faith whereby they are holding on, and the result is a small supply of cattle, on the market here today, 7,000 cattle, and 1600 calves. Of these only 100 car loads are in the quarantine division, the small supply being the result of good rains in the pasture country of Okla., late last week. The market is mostly 10 to 15 higher today, and it was again demonstrated that dry lot cattle available are insufficient for the demand. Best steers are quotable at $6.50, bulk of natives at $5.50 to $6.25, top cows $5.00, bulk $3.00 to $4.25, heifers at $4.00 to $6.15, bulls $3.00 to $4.75, veals $4.50 to $7.00, quarantine steers $3.79 to $5.40, cows $2.80 to $4.00, Western fed steers $5.50 to $6.15, stockers and feeders $3.50 to $5.25.

Hog prices went up steadily last week, with the exception of a slight reaction at the close of the week, and the moderate run of 10,000 here today permits sellers to enforce another small advance, although the opening was lower today. Top today is $6.32, which is 10 cents under the best price last week, bulk of sales today $6.20 to $6.30. Some stories are being circulated that packers stocks of meats heavy, but this is not taken seriously, as the product is vending as fast as it can be got ready. Even the most distinguished bears on the market, the Cudahys, buy freely at prevailing prices rather than wait for their prediction concerning the four cent hog to come true.

Sheep and lambs are selling closer together than a week ago, lambs having declined several points last week, sheep around steady. The feature of the market is the bargain rates at which stuff can be secured. Good breeding ewes may be had around $2.50, and and goats do not bring above that figure. The run is 7,000 today, market 10 lower, top lambs $6.60, yearlings worth up to $4.60, wethers $3.85, ewes $3.25. Natives make up bulk of receipts, quality not extra good, Texas and Arizona receipts cutting a small figure in the total.

Enlists in U. S. Army.

Ivan E. Stroud, a young farmer of near Forsyth, Taney county, enlisted in the United States cavalry service at the local station this morning. Tonight he will enter his first duties as a soldier when he departs for Jefferson Barracks for preliminary instructions and assignment to a troop. Stroud is 23 years of age. His application was accepted by Corporal George Wright and was endorsed by Captain Gilmer, commander of this district of the recruiting service, who left this afternoon for headquarters at Joplin.—Springfield Leader.

A letter received from M. Wilbur at Cedar Falls, Iowa, says that he has noticed by the paper that we have been having hot, dry weather here, and that they are needing rain there. He says the thermometer has been standing at from 90 to 100 in the shade nearly every day for some time. We have received a couple of good rains in the past week, and the heat is somewhat more bearable than it was.

Clarence Root returned this afternoon from Kansas City where he has been working for some time.

Peter Kloeppinger of St. Louis, who is one of the land owners of Taney county, was here the latter part of last week and the first of this, looking after his interests.

A. D. Reese, accompanied by Misses Claudia Comer and May Reese of Brown Branch, was in town the latter part of last week visiting at the home of his brother, J. W. Reese, county collector.

John Ray left this morning for Lyons, Kansas, where he will take charge of a threshing crew. John has held this job now for several years, and the job seems to belong to him as long he wants it. He says he will be back in time to make a float down the river this fall before cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Falkner, who have been living in Forsyth since last fall have moved to Joplin where they will make their home. Mr. Falkner is a carpenter and work was not very good in that line just at present.

W. H. Church, of Pinetop, relieved the editor last week long enough for him to take a trip down the river with a fishing party. Mr. Church visited a couple of days with friends in the Wayside neighborhood, and returned home on Wednesday of this week.

Missouri has no capitol. The business of the State is conducted in small rooms in the old supreme court, library and armory buildings. How long, think you, should such a condition be permitted by the intelligent and wealthy people of this state? It will not have to be endured long if two-thirds of the voters who go to the polls the first day of August are patriotic and sensible enough to vote to issue $3,000,000 of bonds with which to build and equip a new state house in capitol park.

Never in its history has Missouri had a more enterprising, a more efficient or a wiser administration of public affairs than has been enjoyed under direction of Governor Hadley. And it should be remembered that he has been handicapped by opposition and lack of co-operation on the part of Democratic state officials elected at the same time he was elected. It was a grievous mistake on the part of many thousands of citizens who voted for him that they did not vote for the other nominees of his party for state offices. A united, aggressive force of state officers, under the leadership of Governor Hadley, could have accomplished a vast deal more for Missouri than has been accomplished with several departments under the control of officials whose chief aim seems to have been to hinder the governor. Certainly the people have observed the unfair, partisan and obstructive tactics of these Democratic state officials, and the day of reckoning will show that Missourians are not ready to endorse officials who make partisan considerations paramount to public interests.

Loyal Republicans will not encourage the hopes and plans of the Democrats by sulking in their tents because things do not look right to them at this time. The Republican party has never, as a party, faltered or deviated in its adherence to the policy of protection, and it will not do so now. The national convention will declare a national policy. That convention is not far off.

WHO SHOULD VOTE "YES."

These should go to the polls on August 1 and work and vote for the new capitol proposition:

All who favor the present permanent seat of government, magnificent in its scenic beauty, splendid in its historical setting, and sacred in its traditions and reminiscences. All who oppose opening the question of capitol removal, frittering away the time and money and patience of the people in schemes that can never receive the approval of the voters.

All who favor rebuilding the capitol now and not dragging the matter over the tortuous routes of controversy for a dozen years.

All who believe that 3 1/4 million dollars will rebuild an adequate, fire-proof capitol.

All who favor saving $1,500,000 in principal and $1,500,000 in interest—the additional amount the five million dollar proposition will cost.

All who would have Missouri receive the benefit of the advertisement of progress and enterprise that the prompt rebuilding of the capitol would bring.

All who are patriotic enough to take pride in a splendid new state house, built of Missouri stone and material produced by Missourians. All who love the grand old state and would not see her lag behind her sister states in the matter of civic improvement.

All who think we need a capitol building at all and are big enough and generous enough to be willing to pay the pittance required to build it.
